The Adventure of the Missing Three-Quarter

No. 11 of the Series

"The night porter saw nothing, I suppose."

"No, sir. One theater party came in late; no one else."

"Were you on duty all day yesterday?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you take any messages to Mr. Staunton?"

"Yes, sir; one telegram."

"Ah, that's interesting. What o'clock was this?"

"About 6."

"Where was Mr. Staunton when he received it?"

"Here in his room."

"Were you present when he opened it?"

"Yes, sir; I waited to see if there was an answer."

"Well, was there?"

"Yes, sir; he wrote an answer."

"Did you take it?"

"No; he took it himself."

"But he wrote it in your presence?"

"Yes, sir. I was standing by the door and he with his back turned at that table. When he had written it he said, 'All right, porter, I will take this myself.'"

"What did he write it with?"

"A pen, sir."

"Was the telegraphic form one of these on the table?"

"Yes, sir; it was the top one."

"Holmes rose. Taking the forms, he carried them over to the window and carefully examined that which was uppermost."

"It is a pity he did not write in pencil," said he, throwing them down again, with a shrug of disappointment.

"As you have no doubt frequently observed, Watson, the impression usually goes through a fact which has dissolved many a happy marriage. However, I can find no trace here. I rejoice, however, to perceive that he was for a moment proved that this young man saw a formidable danger which approached him, and from which some one else could protect him. 'Do mark you! Another person was involved. Who should it be but the pale-faced, bearded man, who seemed himself in so nervous a state? What, then, is the connection between Godfrey Staunton and the bearded man? And what is the third source from which each of them sought for help against pressing danger? Our inquiry has already narrowed down to that."

"We have only to find to whom that telegram is addressed," I suggested.

"Exactly, my dear Watson. Your reflection, though profound, had already crossed my mind. But I dare say it may have come to your notice that if you walk into a postoffice and demand to see the counterfoil of another man's message there may be some distinction on the part of the officials to oblige you. There is so much red tape in these matters. However, I have no doubt that with a little dexterity and finesse the end may be attained. Meanwhile, I should like in your presence, Mr. Overton, to go through these papers which have been left upon the table."

"There were a number of letters, bills and notebooks, which Holmes turned over and examined with quick, nervous fingers and darting, penetrating eyes. 'Nothing here,' he said at last. 'By the way, I suppose your friend was a healthy young fellow—nothing amiss with him?'"

"Sound as a bell."

"Have you ever known him ill?"

"Not a day. He has been laid up with a back, and once he slipped his kneecap, but that was nothing."

"Perhaps he was not so strong as you suppose. I should think he may have had some secret trouble. With your assent, I will put one or two of these papers in my pocket, in case they should bear upon our future inquiry."

"One moment—one moment!" cried a querulous voice, and we looked up to find a queer little old man jerking and twitching in the doorway. He was dressed in rusty black, with a wrote with a broad pointed quill pen, and I can hardly doubt that we will find some impression upon this blotting pad. Ah, yes, surely this is the very thing!"

He tore off a strip of the blotting paper and turned toward us the following hieroglyphic:

Staud by us for Brown Sade

Cyril Overton was much excited. "Hold it to the glass!" he cried. "That is unnecessary," said Holmes. "The paper is thin, and the reverse will give the message. Here it is." He turned it over and we read:

"So that is the tail end of the telegram which Godfrey Staunton dispatched within a few hours of his disappearance. There are at least six words of the message which have escaped us, but what remains—'Stand by'—" rose white necktie—the whole effect being that of a very rustic parson or of an undertaker's mate. Yet, in spite of his shabby and even absurd appearance, his voice had a sharp crackle and his manner a quick intensity which commanded attention.

"Who are you, sir, and by what right do you touch this gentleman's papers?" he asked.

"I am a private detective, and I am endeavoring to explain his disappearance."

"Oh, you are, are you? And who instructed you, eh?"

"This gentleman, Mr. Staunton's friend, was referred to me by Scotland Yard."

"Who are you, sir?"

"I am Cyril Overton."

ALAMEDA PASSES MANY VESSELS ON QUICK TRIP

The O. S. S. Alameda, Captain Dowdell, reached port from San Francisco this morning ninety seconds ahead of time. Purser T. C. Smith is seriously thinking of getting a stop-watch to split the seconds of the liner's record. Actual time of the run was five days, twenty hours and fifty minutes; apparent time was five days, eighteen hours and twenty minutes. The light-ship was left on the 9th instant at 12:30 p. m. and Diamond Head was reached today at 6 a. m.

On the 10th, in lat. 36.03 N., long. 127.33 W., the Alameda, at 6 a. m., passed a 4-masted bark standing to the eastward.

On the same day she passed the S. S. Enterprise, with a tow, headed northeast.

At 1:10 o'clock in the afternoon she met the S. S. Sierra, lat. 35.14, long. 129.42.

On the 12th, at 12:20 a. m., she met the S. S. Manchuria, lat. 31.19, long. 140.12.

A pleasant trip was experienced throughout. The Alameda brought about fifty in the cabin, nearly all home-returning Honoluluans.

SAN DIEGO'S YACHT.

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 30.—Detroit last year's winner of the Lipton cup, tied a string to the trophy again today and it is safe to predict that she will bend hawser to it tomorrow and carry back with her to Terminal Island. To day's start was a decided improvement over yesterday's. The wind, while light, held true and the yachts were away in good form, all crossing the line within a minute and a quarter after the firing of the starting guns.

The Venus abandoned the race after finishing the first lap of the course, leaving mischief and Butcher Boy to fight it out for second place. The defender, Butcher Boy, crossed the finish line 14 minutes 29 seconds (corrected time) after the Detroit and 1 minute 58 seconds ahead of the mischief.

It is said tonight that there is a chance to protest the race on the grounds that the Detroit carried one more man than the rules permit. In view of her overwhelming success, however, it is doubted that any protest will be entered.

M. Julien Tiersot, Librarian of the Paris Conservatoire, and M. Antote le Braz, professor of Celtic language and literature, are to lecture in this country next year under the auspices of the Federation of French Alliances.

OPERATIONS AVOIDED

Two Grateful Letters from Women Who Avoided Serious Operations.—Many Women Suffering from Like Conditions Will Be Interested.

When a physician tells a woman, suffering from ovarian or womb trouble, that an operation is necessary it, of course, frightens her.

The very thought of the operating table and the knife strikes terror to her heart. As one woman expressed it, when told by her physician that she must undergo an operation, she felt that her death knell had sounded.

Our hospitals are full of women who are there for ovarian or womb operations!

It is quite true that these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but such cases are much rarer than is generally supposed, because a great many women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after the doctors had said an operation must be performed. In fact, up to the point where the knife must be used to secure instant relief, this medicine is certain to help.

The strongest and most grateful statements possible to make come from women who, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, have escaped serious operations.

Margie Ryan, Treasurer of St. Andrew's Society, Hotel English, Indianapolis, Ind., writes of her cure as follows:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I cannot find words to express my thanks for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me. The doctor said I could not get well unless I had an operation for ovarian and female troubles. I knew I could not stand the strain of an operation and made up my mind I would be an invalid for life. Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills."

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD

APPLIED AS A COLD CREAM ACTS AS A MEDICINE.

Wherever applied, its healing and nourishment is instantly absorbed by the pores. It strengthens and builds up the tissues underlying the skin and firm, healthy flesh is the result.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD is no new experiment. It has been in use for more than fifty years and during that time thousands of women and men have used it with entire satisfaction.

That it is not to be classed with "Cold Creams" and other things of like superficial potency is proved by the fact that it is prescribed by leading physicians and used in hospitals for the nutrition of invalids whose stomachs are too weak to digest food.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD should be used by every woman who has the least desire to be attractive. It is the only preparation that will round out hollowed, thin cheeks or scrawny neck with firm, healthy flesh and remove wrinkles from the face and hands, no matter how deep the furrows.

FOR DEVELOPING THE IMMATURE BUST or to make the breast firm, large and beautiful nothing can equal it. To prevent the breasts from shrinking after weaning baby, mothers should always use DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD. It will also restore a bosom to its natural contour and beauty lost through nursing and sickness.

ON SALE AT ALL DRUGGISTS.
SPECIAL OFFER. The regular price of DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD is $1.00 a box, but to introduce it into thousands of new homes we have decided to send two (2) boxes to all who answer this advertisement and send us $1.00. All packages are sent in plain wrapper, postage prepaid.

FREE. A Sample Box—just enough to convince you of the great merit of DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD—will be sent free for 10 cents, which pays for cost of mailing. With this sample we will also send you our illustrated Book, "Art of Massage," which contains all the proper movements for massaging the face, neck and arms and full directions for developing the bust. Address
